PRESS RELEASE

Inglis offer Internship in Bloodstock Industry for 2018

An excellent opportunity to gain an understanding of the workings of Australia's number one thoroughbred auctioneering Company will see the applicant spend 12 months gaining experience in all facets of the business.

Time will be predominantly spent within the bloodstock division, while being exposed to the Company's marketing, insurance, digital and leasing divisions. This unique opportunity will allow the successful applicant the chance to build a succinct knowledge and thorough understanding of an auctioneer/bloodstock agency.

Based primarily in Melbourne, the successful applicant will spend time with industry leaders, gaining an intimate understanding of pedigree and conformation evaluation which forms an integral part of the selection process for yearlings entered in the Company's annual yearling sale series.

The successful applicant will be entitled to a generous living allowance, as well as being given the opportunity for interstate travel between the Melbourne and Sydney offices and throughout Australia's primary breeding regions.

Applications should be emailed to James Price james.price@inglis.com.au no later than 20 December 2017 and should include a current CV along with a covering letter explaining why you feel you are a worthy candidate for this internship.

Interviews will be conducted mid-January 2018, with the commencement of the Internship set for early to mid-February.
